Fighting France

DUNKERQUE TO BELFORT

By Edith Wharton

A book on the author's experiences and impressions of France in the war, including her own visits to different parts of the French battle line. Commenting upon the vividness and dramatic intensity of some of these, an editorial writer in the New York Times says: "What that hard-won knowledge of human misery, cruelty, tenderness, and courage known as war will effect in the work of such a consummate artist as Mrs. Wharton is the secret of the literature of the future." Whatever this may be, the registration of these impressions and experiences is of extraordinary interest and will give one of the most remarkable volumes of this unprecedented year.

Vive la France!

By E. Alexander Powell

This intensely vivid record is the result of Mr. Powell's second visit to the front during which he was accorded most extraordinary privileges and opportunities for seeing the fighting. The book describes, among other things, the Bombardment of Dunkirk (the longest range bombardment in history); the destruction of Soissons; the fighting on the Aisne; the invasion of Alsace; the Battle of Neuve Chapelle; the Second Battle of Ypres; the Campaign in the Vosges; the Poison Gas; the last stand of the Belgians on the Yser; the underground cities; the big-gun duels, etc.

Men of the Old Stone Age

THEIR ENVIRONMENT, LIFE, AND ART

By Henry Fairfield Osborn

Research Professor of Zoology, Columbia University

The great course of speculation, exploration, and research in regard to the prehistory of man, which opened with the publication of Darwin's "Descent of Man," over a half-century ago, reaches its present culmination in the latest work of Professor Henry Fairfield Osborn, "Men of the Old Stone Age." Here we find no speculative or theoretic meandering, but a great period of history plainly set forth, the first presentation that is both authoritative and absolutely complete of what we actually know at the present time in regard to human prehistory. Profusely illustrated. $5.00 net.

Beautiful Gardens in America

By Louise Shelton

This sumptuous volume contains beautiful pictures of a great variety of those gardens in this country which may be taken as representative of the possibilities of gardening under our diverse climatic conditions, accompanied by brief but truly illuminative text. As the author says, "The views contained within this book show chiefly gardens planned by owners earnestly laboring to express their sense of the beautiful in these their outdoor homes."

Four Great Books of the Fall

THE LIFE AND LETTERS OF JOHN HAY

By William Roscoe Thayer

"Easily the outstanding biography of the time and a worthy estimate of one of our great statesmen."—Boston Transcript.

"Like Mr. Thayer's admirable life of Cavour, this life of John Hay will take its place without challenge among the foremost books of its class. . . . Seldom does one find two large volumes so uniformly readable. Both as literature and as history the book contains the promise of long life."—New York Times Book Supplement.

John Muir's TRAVELS IN ALASKA

A graphic account of exploration and adventure written by the great naturalist just before his death from notes made during three trips to the Far North. This is the first posthumous volume of John Muir's work that has been published, and it has been carefully edited under the direction of William Frederic Badè.

Fully illustrated. $2.50 net. Ready in November.

Lyman Abbott's REMINISCENCES

Few Americans are more widely known or have been active in more fields of human endeavor than Lyman Abbott. As preacher, author, editor, and leader of public opinion he has for more than half a century lived at the very core of American life. As a result his Reminiscences constitute not only the story of a wonderfully interesting career, but a comprehensive panorama of the spiritual and intellectual development of America from 1835 to the present day.

BOOKS YOU MUST HAVE

HOMO SAPIENS By Stanislaw Przybyszewski
 (Pronounced Pshee-be-shéff-skee) $1.50

A very modern love story which is as well the greatest work so far written by Poland's greatest living writer, a work to which European critics have already assigned a very high place in the literary history of our time. It should sweep America as did the work of Sienkiewicz a generation ago, and it is almost certain to be the most talked about book this season.

MOYLE CHURCH-TOWN By John Trevena $1.40

A new book by a man who is fast coming into his own, the man whom the conservative Boston Transcript calls "the successor to Thomas Hardy." "Moyle Church-Town" is a fine romance—clean and exciting and happy.

FOUR PLAYS Translated from the French of Emile Augier by Barrett H. Clark with a Preface by BRIEUX. $1.50

A handsomely printed and strikingly bound volume containing the chief work of one of the classic French dramatists of the 19th century. No dramatic library can be complete without it, and it will also make a most attractive gift book for those readers who want something more than pictures.

YVETTE Translated from the French of Guy de Maupassant by Mrs. John Galsworthy with an Introduction by Joseph Conrad. $1.35

A novelette and ten of the best of Maupassant's stories translated into very beautiful English by the wife of the famous novelist. MAUPASSANT-GALSWORTHY-CONRAD are three pretty good names for one title-page.

THE PRECIPICE By Ivan Goncharov $1.35

A first translation of a very important Russian novel. It depicts the conflict between two generations and is in many ways comparable with Turgenev's "Fathers and Sons."

WAR PROGRESS AND THE END OF HISTORY
 By Vladimir Soloviev $2.25

The first complete translation of the work of one of the greatest of Russian philosophers. A book that helps explain the Russian point of view.

THE RUSSIAN PROBLEM By Paul Vinogradoff 75 cents
 Russia's psychology, how she is progressing, what reforms she needs.

THE RUSSIAN NOVEL By E-M de Vogüé
 Illustrated $3.00

The classic treatment of Gogol, Turgenev, Dostoevsky and Tolstoy.

" THE FOTYGRAFT ALBUM "

by Frank Wing

The Funniest Book of the Year

Here is a synopsis of the orders of one retail dealer (name furnished on application):

June 1, 25--June 8, 15--June 14, 25--July 7, 100
July 28, 50--August 30, 10--October 8, 25.

That's going some for a dull season sale!

But the real big sale is yet to come, for THE FOTYGRAFT ALBUM makes an especially attractive gift--it's an ideal holiday item. Why? Because its droll, close-to-nature reproduction of the old-fashioned "fambly album" creates no end of fun for old and young. Because one glance shows the laughableness of the pictures and the inimitable humor of the text.

Have you stock? If not, drop us a line and we'll send you a trial shipment subject to return at our expense if the book doesn't sell. If in stock, give THE FOTYGRAFT ALBUM a front seat and watch the pile melt away.

Two Big Books by ARNOLD BENNETT

Let us recall to your mind the popularity of "Clayhanger" and "Hilda Lessways," by Arnold Bennett. They take up in such detail—yet with such human interest—as had never before been known, the growth of a young man, Edwin Clayhanger, and of his sweetheart, Hilda.

Now, at last, after several years during which thousands upon thousands of articles and reviews have appeared on these two books—most of them expressing an eager desire to see the third book, on the marriage of Edwin Clayhanger and Hilda—that desired book has appeared—the biggest novel of the year—

THESE TWAIN

Their marriage is intimately taken up from their tiniest quarrel about open windows, and their big struggles over money questions, to their hours of most vivid happiness. It is an epic of all our married lives.

And—note this as a selling point—while THESE TWAIN is still more interesting to those who have read "Clayhanger" and "Hilda Lessways" yet it can be read quite independently of the earlier novels—and that you may tell with absolute sureness to your customers, who say: "Oh, I haven't read the earlier Clayhanger novels." And if they read THESE TWAIN they will come back for the other two.

Each of these three novels retails at Net $1.50.

Note especially that for the holiday trade the trilogy is issued handsomely bound in full leather and boxed, sets not broken. Price, Net $5.00.

DUKE JONES

by Ethel Sidgwick

Author of "Promise," "LeGentleman," etc.

Second Edition Now Selling

"Miss Sidgwick, at her best, triumphs in the technique, which is not purely a matter of style, but the structure, formations of mass and proportion, harmony of relations and adaptability, such as a master architect achieves in the interior as well as on the exterior of a building.

"When John Ingestre, a fine old aristocrat with a subtle sense of humor, exclaims to Sir Claude Ashwin and his daughter Violet, 'Oh, you exquisites!' he characterizes all the characters in this novel. Violet Shovell is aboundingly real, a perfect masterpiece of womanhood, so is Charles her husband real, Lisette Addenbroke, Eveleen, her mother, an inverted Becky Sharpe if one substitutes a mental immorality for sensual depravity, and Marmaduke Jones who shows us how exquisitely it is possible to make a martyr of oneself.

"The holiday in Cornwall where Jones met the Shovells on their honeymoon takes the reader along the shadowy paths of a rapturous spiritual adventure. It was the advent of Lisette at the Cornish hotel near the end of their stay that supplied the motive. These three, Violet Shovell, Lisette Addenbroke and Marmaduke Jones make the big substance of this novel. Before they have left the duchy one can feel in Jones a vague and unconscious indication of his spirit to Violet, but cannot foresee what a beautiful reality it becomes until Lisette presents the pitiful crisis of her waywardness. This creature is superb in her admixture of moods, with splendid beauty and utterly lacking in moral conscience.

"This is only the kernel of this extraordinary and beautiful story. It does not at all hint at what a marvelous bit of characterization is Violet."

The Son of the Otter

By GEORGE VAN SCHAIK

Author of "Sweetapple Cove."

In this fascinating novel one gets a picture of the great trackless wastes of the Canadian fur country. "MONOPOLY"—A VERBAL BUGABOO.

ELSEWHERE we reprint from a recent issue of the New York Journal of Commerce a clear summary of the present status of net price adjudication and of the purpose and purport of the Stevens bill. It may seem in large part to retread accustomed ground, but that it is occasionally wise to iterate the underlying principles of price maintenance is nowhere better exemplified than in this very Journal of Commerce editorial.

For the statement in question concludes with these words: "There is no question that when monopoly is combined with price maintenance there is complete suppression of competition and restraint of trade, and, whatever may be its incidental hardships, it will be difficult to convince Congress that there is any crying need for the amendment of that feature of anti-trust legislation."

Now, whether the Journal of Commerce so intended or not, the impression given by the quoted sentence is that "monopoly combined with price maintenance" not only would probably be denied relief by Congress, but that it ought to be. Certainly, however friendly the Journal of Commerce may feel toward price maintenance on articles in free competition, the assumption of the reader would naturally be that it would feel no great sympathy with the efforts of "monopolies" to maintain prices on their products.

We have had occasion heretofore to wonder whether it was true that there was something in the sound of the word "monopoly" that immediately brought righteous indignation to the mind of a certain class of legislators. The word, regardless of its Constitutional endorsement, is apparently in bad odor, and it is difficult sometimes to argue that there are monopolies and monopolies, that some monopolies are not merely good, but absolutely vital to the existence and progress of civilization.

It would seem for instance that it ought to be unnecessary to point out that patent right, though absolutely and avowedly a monopoly of the most stringent sort, is a very commendable one indeed, that copyright is similarly a monopoly and one that needs no more defense than a moral axiom, that all trademarks are monopolies, monopolies really instituted by society for its own protection. They are in essence the simple right of private property. It ought to be unnecessary; but it seems sadly true nevertheless that to a certain class of legislators and economic writers the word "monopoly," no matter what its definition, is of the nature of a red rag to a bull: it at once infuriates and renders reasoned discussion impossible.

Now it is perfectly true that when the Houghton Mifflin Company desires to maintain prices on a new novel of Mary Johnston's, when the Ingersoll Watch Company tries to protect the price of one of its dollar watches, when the Cream of Wheat Company tries to prevent price cutting on its breakfast food, each and all are trying to do nothing more or less than to "combine monopoly with price maintenance." But what is the monopoly in question? not one in books in general or even in novels; not one in machinery in general or in watches; not one in food in general or in cereals. It is a monopoly (secured by copyright) in one case in "Mary Johnston's" newest novel; in another a monopoly (secured by patent right) in the "Ingersoll" dollar watch, in another a monopoly (secured by trade-mark) in "Cream of Wheat," a mere name for a cereal prepared in a certain way with a certain standard of excellence.

Why assume therefore that Congress will not look with favor on the Stevens bill if the latter favors in any case whatever, "monopoly combined with price maintenance?" Or are we to assume that Congress, which means a majority of the members thereof, are lacking in that ordinary common sense necessary to distinguish such fundamental, government-granted monopolies as copyright, trade-mark and patent right from criminal monopolies gained by devious, brutally selfish or actually illegal means?

We are glad to print a letter, delayed in transmission, from a leading and representative English house, protesting in a friendly way against our use of the phrase "deliberate unfriendliness" in characterizing the organized action by English publishers in respect to American books in the Australian market.

The disclaimer of unfriendliness is welcome, as American authors, no less than American publishers, would regret anything like an organized boycott, such as the action of the meeting seemed to indicate. We have never defended but have consistently opposed the manufacturing clause as a condition of American copyright; and if American authors and publishers could have themselves decided this point there would not have been such a clause. The import duty on books, originally in some measure "protective," has been reduced of late years. It has been a well-founded boast of Great Britain that it has neither manufacturing clause nor import duties, and it is to be regretted that English publishers, acting as such, should introduce the restrictive spirit into publishing relations with other countries. To hold that no part of the British Empire is to be dealt with in respect to book publishing, except through an English publisher, is to go a good way in this direction. The question of Canadian rights has always been a moot point to be dealt with by individual contract; and we do not recall that the American publishing trade by deliberate action in organized meeting has ever laid down the law that it will not handle books of an English author unless the Canadian market is included. The letter of Messrs. Constable makes the distinction between "self-interest" and "unfriendliness" which we are glad to note, but the present war is a direful example of the danger that self-interest, when carried to its logical extreme, easily merges into unfriendliness. We hope, therefore, that our English brethren will call the boycott off and deal with the Australian market, as with the Canadian market, under individual contract, in the best interests of the English-writing author and the English-reading public, whatever be the author's nationality.

"JUVENILE Book Week," says Hamilton Mabie, in a long and well-phrased editorial endorsement of it in last week's Outlook "is a matter of national interest and importance. Booksellers, book publishers and librarians must co-operate; but they ought to have all intelligent Americans behind them." The indictment he draws up against the vulgar book as distinguished from the vicious one is not a new one, but his iteration of it is part of the live campaign for better juvenile book buying in which most of our important magazines will, within the next month, take some part. On account of the large number of orders received, from libraries as well as booksellers, for the "Books Boys Like Best" list it appears now that we shall be obliged to let the presses run on it as late as the latter part of next week. If, therefore, there are any eleventh hour orders sent, by wire or mail, they can probably be filled even if received as late as Thursday.

As the heaviest of the fall and holiday book buying season approaches some booksellers are planning to add an additional trained clerk or two to their staff. In this connection it is well to bear in mind the facilities afforded by the Employment Bureau of the New York Booksellers' League. The Bureau has on hand at present the names of a number of good book salesmen who are anxious to better their present situation and who are willing to leave New York City if necessary.

LEGALIZING PRICE REGULATION

On the equities of price regulation says The Journal of Commerce editorially, there is much to be said. Inferentially, an article which a dealer may select to sell below the price fixed by its producer, for the purpose of bringing customers to his shop, must have, in the estimate of the purchasers at least, some special degree of excellence. Whatever may have been the processes by which the desirability of a given article were impressed on the public mind, they must have cost their author study, effort and expense, and the vogue of the product in question may thus be claimed to be as much a piece of property of which he cannot be deprived without due compensation as any part of the tangible equipment of his business. Hence, if it be assumed that the reputation of an article whose name is an asset of value to its owner may be seriously injured by selling it below a fixed market price, the law should permit the original owner of the product to prescribe a uniform price at which it may be resold by the jobber to the retailer and by the latter to the consumer. That is, briefly, the purpose of the bill introduced in the House of Representatives in February of last year by Mr. Stevens, of New Hampshire, and which will be actively pressed on the attention of the Sixty-fourth Congress. It is not alone on the ground of justice to manufactures of what may be called the trade-mark specialties of commerce that price regulation may be defended. Judge Ellis of the Supreme Court of the State of Washington put the question on the broader ground of public interest when he declared in his opinion in the Fisher Flouring Mills case that he regarded it as an economic fallacy to assume that the competition which, in the absence of monopoly, benefits the public is competition between rival retailers. He held that the true competition is between rival articles, a competition in excellence, which can never be maintained if, "through the perfidy of the retailer who cuts prices for his own ulterior purposes, the manufacturer is forced to compete in prices with goods of his own production, while the retailer recoups his losses on the cut price by the sale of other articles at or above their reasonable price."

On the other hand, it is not without reasons closely identified with the public interest that the Supreme Court has declared that a price agreement, pure and simple, is always illegal. It is even illegal when the article sold is covered by patents or is the product of a secret process or is protected by a copyright. The rule is not affected by any of these considerations because once the original producer or sole marketer has parted with the specific article and received the full consideration that he obtains therefor the article itself becomes a commodity that may be traded in without any restriction placed upon it as to price or otherwise by the person selling it. In short, the decisions of the Federal courts start with the general proposition that all price maintenance contracts or schemes are illegal and unenforceable both at common law and, where they affect interstate commerce, under the Sherman law. Patented or copyrighted articles or those which are produced by secret processes of manufacture are not excepted from the rule, because the owner of a patent or copyright or holder of a secret process cannot protect his authority over the article produced after he has received the consideration he exacts for it. In all the patent monopoly cases no claim for the enforcement of a contract arising out of an acceptance by the retailer of the patented article with knowledge of the notice restricting the conditions under which it must be sold is set up. In all these cases the patentees are careful to waive the question of contract, realizing that their attempt to keep up the retail sale price of the patented article must be enforced under patent authority or must fail, because under the Sherman Act and the common law of which it is the expression, price restriction by means of any sort of contract has been adjudged illegal. Hence plaintiffs in such cases stake their hope upon the monopoly of the patent and expressly waive all questions of contract; they allege infringement of patent, not breach of contract.

That the steadfast purpose of the law is to protect the public against the evils of monopoly is recognized by the authors of the Stevens bill. Permission to prescribe the sole, uniform price at which each article covered by a contract of sale may be resold is proposed to be given subject to compliance with this, among other conditions: "Such vendor shall not have any monopoly or control of the market for articles belonging to the same general class of merchandise as such article or articles of commerce as shall be covered by such contract of sale; nor shall such vendor be a party to any agreement, combination or understanding with any competitor in the production, manufacture or sale of any merchandise in the same general class in regard to the price at which the same shall be sold either to dealers at wholesale or retail or to the public." So stated, it seems an open question whether the law will bring the kind of relief which its supporters expect and desire. Stripped of any purpose to restrain trade or restrict competition, price agreements assume a character which is not repugnant to the existing law. The point was established in the case above cited referring to a brand of patent flour, in another dealing with olive oil and a third with chocolate. The decision in each of these cases went on the theory that none of the manufacturers monopolized the production of the article to be sold. It was expressly held in the case of the brand of patent flour that where a manufacturer has a monopoly of his product a contract of sale binding the purchaser to maintain a retail price on resale of the article is essentially restriction of competition, unreasonable and void. Apparently the Stevens bill does not undertake to change the law in this respect, and, so far as can be judged, the modification which it attempts to introduce is already recognized in the interpretation of existing law. There is no question that when monopoly is combined with price maintenance there is complete suppression of competition and restraint of trade, and, whatever may be its incidental hardships, it will be difficult to convince Congress that there is any crying need for the amendment of that feature of anti-trust legislation.

ENGLAND PLANS NATIONAL BOOK FORTNIGHT.

The English Publishers' Association will make a great effort to bring about a boom in book-buying this Christmas. In the October issue of The Author the following information is given:

"The promoters suggest three methods of procedure: (1) By a bookseller's window display (2) by the issue of a publishers' catalogue, and (3) by a press campaign. In regard to Number One it is proposed to ask the co-operation of all the booksellers in making a special window display and a special canvass among likely book buyers during a chosen fortnight in November, which will be termed the National Book Fortnight. Advertising material for the booksellers' display, having for its chief object the emphasising of a campaign to encourage the buying of books for recreation, instruction and solace, etc., will be prepared on a comprehensive scale. The second method will involve the issue this autumn of a co-operative catalogue. For the Press campaign several of the leading dailies, both London and provincial, have already promised support, and it is proposed to arrange during the National Book Fortnight with these papers to publish on given days a special book page supplement. The pages in question are to be devoted to special articles written by leading authors on 'Reading as an Art' and kindred subjects, while the rest of the editorial matter will be devoted to such subjects as books on art, history, phases of fiction, etc."

The exact nature of the campaign was to be settled later at a meeting of the Association.

COPYRIGHT NOTES.

OLDFIELD BILL WILL BE PUSHED BEFORE
NEW CONGRESS.

THE proposed new design patent law embodied in Bill H. R. 18,223, which was introduced last year by Representative Oldfield, will be one of the more important matters before the House Committee on Patents when Congress convenes in December. Briefly speaking, Bill H. R. 18,223 supersedes the old design patent law and substitutes for it a design copyright law in which protection somewhat similar to ordinary copyright protection is secured.

At the last session, Congress did not give serious consideration to the bill, but this year, it is understood, it will be more firmly pressed forward by its sponsor and those interested in its passage.

LETTERING THE BACK EDGE OF MAGAZINES
TO READ DOWNWARD.

Chicago, October 20, 1915.

Editor, THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY,

I suggest that the attention of publishers and printers be called to the importance of lettering the back edges of magazines to read downward instead of upwards. When a single number of a magazine lies in a pigeonhole in a public library or on a table, the face should be up. If the lettering on the back reads from the bottom upwards, the magazine must lie on its face if the lettering is to be right side up, and the front cover is thus likely to be soiled. While if the lettering reads downwards, the magazine will lie on the back cover, which matters less. Binders sometimes overlook the distinction between a thin book lettered—quite properly—upwards, and a magazine number which should be lettered from the top downwards.

ENGLISH PUBLISHER DEFENDS ACTION OF ENGLISH PUBLISHERS REGARDING AUSTRALIAN RIGHTS ON AMERICAN BOOKS.

London, September 1, 1915.

Editor, THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY,

We very much regret your suggestion of "deliberate unfriendliness" of English publishers in your article of August 14th. The co-operation suggested is only put forward as a means of maintaining our position. We think no one here has described it as "deliberately unfriendly" of America to entrench herself against competition from this country behind a double line of trenches—one called "manufacturing clause," and the other "import duty on imported printed matter." You only do what you consider best in your interests without any "deliberate unfriendliness" to anybody else. For years British publishers have been building up an increasing business in Australia. Recently there have been many attempts to take this from them. We wish to improve our position in our British markets and to keep what we hold.

We do not quite understand your reference to the author's rights. The suggestion is not prejudicial to American authors. Surely an American author will make what he considers the best arrangements he can. If he thinks it in his best interests that the whole British Empire should have access to his books, he will arrange this, either himself direct with the British publisher or through the American publisher. Australia is only a portion of the British Empire. The whole matter will adjust itself without any great trouble or complication. But please do not think that there is any intention of "unfriendliness," deliberate or otherwise. No publisher here thinks it deliberately unfriendly when an American publisher tries to insist on the Canadian rights of an English book going ipso facto with the United States rights. We must all, both in America and in Great Britain, try to look after our own interests and the interests of authors, but we are none of us therefore "unfriendly."

OBITUARY NOTES.

WILLIAM K. CARR, who died in Washington, D. C., on Oct. 8th in his fifty-sixth year, was the author of "Matter and Some of Its Dimensions," the first volume in Harper's Library of Living Thought which was written by an American author, and of "Capitalistic Morality" as well as of several books on the questions of finance and money.

PAUL ERNEST HERVIEU, dramatic author and member of the French Academy, died on October 25 in his fifty-ninth year after an illness of several days. He was born at Neuilly-sur-Seine, near Paris, and was educated in Paris at the Lycée Condorcet and the Ecole de Droit. Then obtaining his license to practice, M. Hervieu became an advocate at the Court of Appeals in 1877. After several years spent in the law he entered the diplomatic corps and was appointed Secretary to the French Legation at Mexico City. M. Hervieu resigned in 1880 and adopted literature as his life's work, beginning by publishing a series of political, social, and satiric sketches. His first play, "Les Paroles Restant," was produced in 1892 at the Vaudeville in Paris. In 1895 "Les Ténailles" was produced, and two years later "La Loi de l'Homme." Other plays followed until in 1905, "Le Reveil" was produced at the Comédie Française—later, in 1908, being produced in this country under the name of "The Awakening." His next play, "Connais-Toi," was produced in 1909, and in the same year was put on in New York under the title "Know Thyself." His last play was "Le Destin est Maître," which was produced at the Porte St. Martin in 1914.

DR. CHARLES FREDERICK HOLDER, the naturalist and author and founder of the famous Tuna Club of Catalina Island, died of heart disease at his home in Pasadena, Cal., on October 10, in his sixty-fifth year. He was born in Lynn, Mass., and was educated at the Naval Academy and later at the Friends School in Providence. From his earliest youth he evinced a strong liking for natural history and literature, and in 1871 was appointed Assistant Curator of the Museum of Natural History in New York. In 1875 Dr. Holder resigned from the Museum, and shortly after was elected to the chair of zoology of the Throop College of Technology at its opening in Pasadena. At the time of his death he was Honorary Curator. He was the author of: "Elements of Zoology," 1885; "Marvels of Animal Life," 1886; "The Ivory King," 1887; "Living Lights," 1889; "A Strange Company," 1889; "Around Pasadena," 1889; "A Frozen Dragon," 1890; "The Pasadena Highlands," 1890; "Southern California," 1890; "Antiquities of Catalina," 1891; "Louis Agassiz, His Life," 1892; "Life of Charles Darwin," 1893; "Angling" (joint author) 1896; "Along the Florida Reef," 1892; "The Treasure Divers," 1898; "Stories of Animal Life," 1900; "The Adventures of Torqua," 1902; "The Holders of Holderness, or Pioneer Quakers," 1902; "Big Game Fishes of the United States," 1903; "The Lower Animals," 1903; "Crabs and Insects," 1903; "Fishes and Reptiles," 1903; "The Birds," 1904; "The Mammals," 1904; "Resources of Southern California," 1904; "Animals of Forest Reserve," (joint author), 1904; "The Boy Anglers," 1904; "Hand Book of Submarine Gardens," 1904; "Life and Sport in the Open—in Southern California," 1905; "Half Hours with the Lower Animals," 1905; "The Log of a Sea Angler," 1906; "Big Game at Sea," 1907; "Fish Stories" (with David S. Jordan), 1908; "The Recreations of a Sportsman," 1909; "The Marooners," 1909; "The Channel Islands," 1910; "Distinguished American Scientists," 1911; "Game Fishes of the United States," 1913; "Game Fishes of the World," 1913; "Marine Animals of the Pacific Coast," 1913; "Quakers in England and America," 1913; "The Ocean," 1914; "Angling Adventures Around the World," 1914; "Motoring in California," 1914.

PERSONAL NOTES.

RALPH LEONARD has quit Wanamaker's, and succeeds Miss Pecks in the Abraham & Straus, Brooklyn, book department. Miss Pecks was compelled to give up owing to illness.

FRED E. WOODWARD, manager of the book department of Woodward & Lothrop, Washington, D. C., delivered a lecture to the girls of Mt. Vernon Seminary on October 21 on Assyrian and Babylonian tablets, illustrated by a choice collection of genuine tablets.

E. M. LEAVENS, who has been connected with the John C. Winston Company, of Philadelphia, for the past fifteen years, has resigned and has formed a connection with the Hubbell Publishing Company, Equitable Building, New York City, publishers of Hubbell's Legal Directory. Mr. Leavens sailed for London, via the Steamship Rotterdam, November 4th, in the interest of his new concern and will make his headquarters for the next six weeks at the Savoy Hotel, London.

PERIODICAL NOTES.

Puck has leased new quarters at 210 Fifth Avenue.

Every Week crossed the 300,000 mark with its twenty-seventh issue and is being used by 104 newspapers throughout the country.

FLOYD DELL has been appointed managing editor of the Masses. He comes from the Chicago Post.

The Texas Review is a new quarterly, published at the University of Texas, and edited by Stark Young, with T. W. Riker as managing editor. Vol. 1, No. 1, is June, 1915.

Educational Administration and Supervision is the title of a new educational periodical published monthly, except July and August, by Warwick & York, Inc., Baltimore, Md. Vol. 1, No. 1, is January, 1915. The purely administrative side of education will be its field.

Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences, Vol. 1, No. 1, January, 1915, is the beginning of an octavo monthly periodical, designed to be the official organ of the academy, with reports of its meetings, and notices of the scientific and biographical memoirs published by the academy. It will also publish brief original papers.

WITH THE OCTOBER 16TH ISSUE the Printing Trade News ceased publication under that name. Negotiations have been under way which have culminated in the consolidation of the leading printing trade publications in the East—namely, the Printing Trade News and The American Printer, both of New York, and The Master Printer, of Philadelphia. The American Printer has absorbed the other two; it will appear, as in the past, under the direction of John Clyde Oswald, and will be published as a semi-monthly.

The Photo-Play World of Cleveland is the newest publication in the motion picture field, and is unique in a number of ways. It will be a weekly in the form of a small six-column newspaper, twelve pages, 15 by 19 inches, and will have a "popular" circulation, being designed to make a place for itself in the home. The publication has been incorporated under the laws of Ohio for $5000. C. M. Baxter, the moving spirit in the venture, has been for some years in theatrical publicity work. Helen Hewitt Green, recently of the editorial staff of the Norfolk (Va.) Ledger-Dispatch, is editor.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

SMALL, MAYNARD & Co. are publishing today a de luxe edition of "Vigée Lebrun," by W. H. Helm.

THE STEWART & KIDD Co. have just published "Dick Devereux," a romance of the Civil War by David Tod Gilliam.

"WEE MACGREGOR ENLISTS," the further adventures of J. J. Bell's droll Scotch hero, was published this week by Fleming H. Revell.

THE CANADIAN BOOKSELLER AND STATIONER published recently a full page article urging a "Published-in-Canada" campaign in favor of Canadian magazines.

"WOOD AND STONE," the first novel by John Cowper Powys, the author of "Visions and Revisions," will be published by G. Arnold Shaw on November 13. It is a story of English village life.

TWO BIG DORAN BOOKS appearing to-day are "These Twain," the final volume in Arnold Bennett's Clayhanger trilogy, and Irvin Cobb's "Old Judge Priest," a new novel of the famous Kentucky hero.

"THE TRUE STORY OF BUM," a little forty-four page story by W. Dayton Wegefarth of "a little dog with a stubby tail," will be published by Sully and Kleinteich on November 13.

THE FACT that the scholarly two volume "Life and Letters of John Hay," just published by Houghton Mifflin, went into a fourth printing in less than ten days after its publication is abundant evidence of the readiness of both bookseller and public to absorb a really deserving work of this type.

THE GROLIER CLUB has on exhibition at its club house at 29 E. 32nd St., New York City, a collection of rare maps, books and parchments dealing with pirates, highwaymen, freebooters and buccaneers of many ages and many nations. The exhibition is open to the public and will remain on view until November 20.

WHETHER ONE actually gardens himself or merely peers through the iron fence at the other fellow's beautiful garden, he will be interested in "Beautiful Gardens in America," a sumptuous volume, with 170 illustrations, which Scribner's will bring out at once. The book is by Louise Shelton, author of "The Seasons in a Flower Garden."

AN IMPORTANT BOOK which will not appeal to the rabble but which will make a decided appeal to many serious readers is Jastrow's "The Civilization of Babylonia and Assyria," which the J. B. Lippincott Co. is just publishing. Professor Jastrow is, needless to remark, a recognized authority on the subject of Semitic civilization.

THE CONRAD fan's heart will be made glad by the handsome little hundred page study of him by Wilson Follet which Doubleday, Page & Co. have just printed privately and are supplying gratis while the printing lasts to all who request it. Mr. Follet presents a short study of Conrad's intellectual and emotional attitude toward his work and the chief characteristics of his novels.

ANYONE who has had the opportunity of poking around among the churches, little as well as big, of England will be interested in the handsome volume, "Pulpits, Lecterns, and Organs in English Churches" by J. Charles Cox, LL.D., F.S.A., which the Oxford University Press has just published. The text is illustrated with one hundred and fifty-five illustrations from photographs.

AS A RESULT OF PROTESTS from the heirs of Robert Louis Stevenson, Doubleday, Page & Co. have recalled the first edition of Clayton Hamilton's "On the Trail of Stevenson." A new edition will be put out in a month or so. Doubleday, Page have just taken over "The Girl Who Lived in the Woods" by Marjorie Benton Cooke from A. C. McClurg & Co. and all of Kathleen Norris's previous books from the Macmillan Co.

AN EDITION OF "the greatest nonsense book ever written" the "Edward Lear Alphabet Book" is just being published by the Reilly & Britton Co. A dash-outline devices for teaching the child his alphabet is a good feature of this edition—but learning one's alphabet, valuable though it be, is not so important an accomplishment as learning that "A was once an apple pie" and "B was once a little bear."

DODD, MEAD & Co. are publishing today, among other books, one for the motor rambler, one for the war fiend and one for the readers and travelers who, like Browning, leave Italy graved in their hearts. The first is Louise Closser Hale's chatty account, "We Discover New England," illustrated by her husband, Walter Hale; the second is Frederick Palmer's "My Year of the Great War;" and the third is Mrs. Hugh Fraser's partly historical, partly reminiscent volume, "Storied Italy."

THE NAME OF THE AUTHOR of "Homo Sapiens" which Alfred A. Knopf has just published would make a compelling window display all by itself—Stanislaw Przybyszewski! Booksellers might well run guessing contests as to its pronunciation similar to the contests over the number of seeds in a big pumpkin. All of which, of course, doesn't interfere in the least with the worth of "Homo Sapiens," the magnum opus of the great Pole. The story might be briefly described as the love story of a superman. Mr. Knopf has prepared a limited edition of a little booklet on Przybyszewski which he will send to anyone who desires it.

THE FIGHT OVER THE PRINCIPLE OF PRICE MAINTENANCE, and especially the Stevens bill, is growing more intense in the Middle West, according to John T. Kirby, field manager of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, who has just returned from a trip covering thirty-one of the larger cities. On the trip Mr. Kirby spoke before about 1,500 representatives of the dry goods trade on price maintenance, coupons and the problems that affect retail merchants. He reported that the sentiment of department store men is practically unanimous against the Stevens bill. The National Retail Dry Goods Association according to Mr. Kirby, will not agree to any compromise with price maintenance.

THE FIRST SUIT to be brought under the Clayton Act has been instituted in Missouri against the United Shoe Machinery Company. The government several years ago brought suit against this company on the ground that its leases and contracts violated the Sherman Act. This suit was decided in the lower courts against the government and it is now pending on appeal before the United States Supreme Court. In the new suit the Attorney-General filed a petition in the Federal Court of Missouri on October 18, asking that the United Shoe Machinery Company be enjoined from continuing in leases of its machinery tying clauses which seek to prevent the lessee of a machine from using machines manufactured by competitors, and also from giving discounts or rebates on condition that the lessee of a machine shall use other machines manufactured by the same company.

OF CONCOCTING FRAUDS there is no end. The latest scheme to fall foul of the Government postal authorities is an alleged swindle involving 1500 of our would-be poets. J. Victor Green, who was formerly head of the Knickerbocker Harmony Studios in New York, has been arrested preparatory to the trial of John T. Hall, of the Hall Music Company also of New York. Hall, who is a musical composer, advertised some time ago, in the name of his company, that he would give prizes of $250, $150, and $100 to the three best poems adaptable for setting to music which were submitted to him. About 6,000 amateur poets sent in compositions and, according to the Government's complaint, about 1,500 of them, who were induced to pay entrance fees and other charges, were informed that although their poems were of a very high order of merit, it would be impossible for the judges to pass on them finally until they had been set to music by the Knickerbocker Music Company, the Green concern. The fee for that would be $10. The Government asserts that this amounted to a scheme to defraud.

THIS SHOULD BE A GOOD YEAR for the Lippincott Farm Manuals, Macmillan Rural Science Series and agricultural books published by Orange Judd and other publishers, judging from the prosperity which according to recent government reports is rampant in the Middle West. A billion bushel wheat crop—the greatest ever grown in any country—has been produced in the United States this year, according to the Department of Agriculture. It is estimated at 1,002,029,000 bushels, or 111,000,000 bushels larger than the record crop of 1912. The corn crop is estimated at 3,026,159,000 bushels; oats will exceed the record crop of 1912 by almost 100,000,000 bushels; barley will exceed its record by 13,000,000 bushels; sweet potatoes by 5,000,000 bushels; rice by 500,000 bushels, and hay by 68,000,000 tons.

"THE AMERICAN BOOK TRADE MANUAL," of which the initial issue has just been published by the Office of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, is intended to be a reference tool for all concerned in book publishing, buying and collecting. It is first of all a series of directories, covering private collectors, publishers and booksellers, combined in one volume—but it includes also important information regarding book matters, in part reprinted from the Annual Summary Number of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, and to that extent duplicating the material of the same sort in the "American Library Annual." The directories have been separated from the last mentioned publication, partly because that was becoming unduly large and partly to give to the book trade as well as to libraries a separate publication in its own field. The list of private collectors, formerly given in the "American Library Annual," has now been triplicated in arrangement, so that information may be had by the collector by name in the alphabetical list, by location in the geographical list, or by specialty in the subject list. Probably the last arrangement will be of most value alike to libraries, to other students and collectors on like subjects and to booksellers who have offerings to make in the particular specialties. Every pains has been taken to insure that the list is a live one, and as adequate as practicable, the publishers having had in this the assistance of booksellers, librarians and others throughout the country. The lists of booksellers in the United States and also in Canada have been gone over very carefully, by correspondence and personal canvass. No attempt has been made to include small shops which sell books only incidentally, but it was difficult to draw a hard and fast line. The list of publishers gives all represented in the weekly and monthly records of new publications in the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY for the year previous. It is therefore a live list, automatically corrected from issue to issue. It is hoped that this publication may be useful not only to the book trade but to libraries and to book collectors generally.

Advertising copy should reach us Tuesday noon—earlier if proof is desired out-of-town. Forms close Thursday night.

Under the heading "BOOKS WANTED" book-trade subscribers, under their own names, are given five nonpareil lines (exclusive of address) free advertisement for specific books, not more than one title to the line, in any issue except special numbers, but not exceeding 100 lines a year. If over five lines are sent the excess is at 10 cents a line. Unspecified wants, reprinted matter, and all advertisements from non-subscribers, cost 10 cents a line. Objectionable books are excluded so far as they are noted.

In answering, please state edition, condition and price, including postage or express charges. Houses that will deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis should put [Cash] after their firm name. The appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the WEEKLY, does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it endeavors to safeguard its columns by withholding the privileges of advertising should occasion arise, booksellers should take usual precautions in extending credit.

"Books Wanted" must be designated by actual title, not by "any."

Write your wants plainly, on one side of the sheet only. Illegible "wants" are ignored. The WEEKLY is not responsible for errors. Parties with whom there is no account must pay in advance.

Under "BOOKS FOR SALE" or for other small undisplayed advertisements, the charge is 10 cents a nonpareil line. No reduction for repeated matter. Count seven words to the line.

The Golden Slipper

And Other Problems for Violet Strange

By ANNA KATHARINE GREEN

Author of

"The Leavenworth Case"

12°. Frontispiece in Color by Arthur I. Keller. $1.35 net

The famous author of "The Leavenworth Case," "Marked Personal," "That Affair Next Door," "Lost Man's Lane," etc., has created a character quite different from the usual "master detective," and one which will be eagerly accepted by the multitude of readers who are always on the lookout for "something good" in detective fiction.

This solver of mysteries is an attractive young girl, but one of the most dominant and forceful figures in detectivedom since the advent of Sherlock Holmes.

The mysteries Violet Strange is set to solve are so bound together as to offer the sustaining interest of one long story.

Isn't it a fact that most printers undertake to cover too much territory—that there are too few specialists?

For years our exclusive business has been Book Manufacturing. In that time we have met and solved most of the problems connected with the making of books.

Wouldn't it be a good plan to put your book manufacturing problems up to us, and let us do the worrying?

THE PAPER BUYING PROBLEM

The two great factors—Price and Quality.
Your Purchasing Agent secures Best Price.

Reference List of New Publications

Recorded in OCTOBER, 1915

This Reference List enters the books recorded during the month under (1) author, in Clarendon type, anonymous books having Clarendon type for the first word; (2) title in Roman; (3) subject-heading in SMALL CAPS; (4) name of series in Italics.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederick; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

For books received sizes are given in CAPS, Q, O, D, etc., books not received sizes are given in Roman numerals, 4°, 8°, 12°, etc. Prices are added except when not supplied by publisher or obtainable only on specific request. Where not specified the binding is cloth.

Those desiring to learn the entire publishing output of the month in any one field should look under one of the following MAIN HEADINGS:

PHILOSOPHY	MEDICINE	LITERATURE
RELIGION AND THEOLOGY	AGRICULTURE	POETRY
SOCIOLOGY	HOUSEHOLD ECONOMICS	DRAMA
LAW	BUSINESS	FICTION
EDUCATION	ENGINEERING, TECHNOLOGY	BIOGRAPHY
PHILOLOGY	FINE ARTS	GEOGRAPHY AND TRAVEL
SCIENCE	GAMES, SPORTS, AMUSEMENTS	HISTORY

Besides the titles listed under each of these headings cross reference is made from each to a limited number of cognate headings which collectively give all the new publications of the month in the given subject or group of subjects.

Inquirers looking for books on a specific topic should look under the general subject to which that topic belongs, i.e. GEOLOGY rather than SILURIAN PERIOD; MATHEMATICS rather than CALCULUS; ECONOMICS rather than WAGES. Books regarding specific Religious denominations, countries and persons, however, should still be sought for under their individual names.

The Pearls and Diamonds

of Christmas and Holiday Book Sales

These handsomely illustrated and limited editions are the books that your best and most regular customers will ask for when they want something particularly valuable and fine.

The Magic of Jewels and Charms

By GEORGE FREDERICK KUNZ, A.M., Ph.D., D.Sc.

90 illustrations in color, doubletone and line. Handsome Cloth Octavo in a box. Net, $5.00. Uniform in style and size with "The Curious Lore of Precious Stones."

The result of a quarter of a century of active experience as a mineralogist and gem expert, in visiting localities, collections, and museums on both continents, and in careful research of the literature of all periods and countries. It is an interesting galaxy of anecdote, research and information upon a fascinating subject, full of humor and romantic interest. The general reader, the lover of beautiful stones, the student of the occult and mysticism, the religious, as well as the lapidary and the jeweler, will find it entertaining and valuable.

Historic Virginia Homes and Churches

By ROBERT A. LANCASTER, Jr., Member of the Executive Committee, Virginia Historical Society

316 illustrations and a photogravure frontispiece. Special Cloth Binding Octavo, in a box. Net, $7.50. Half morocco. Net, $12.50. A Limited Edition Printed from Type. Uniform with the Pennells' "Our Philadelphia."

The most important work on any State yet published in this country. It describes practically all the houses of historic interest in Virginia, gives illustrations of most of them, as well as the churches most likely to engage attention. This volume is a work of love, which has engaged the author for 27 years.

Quaint and Historic Forts of North America

By JOHN MARTIN HAMMOND

With photogravure frontispiece and 71 illustrations. Ornamental cloth, gilt top, in a box. Net, $5.00.

Timely and interesting to the last degree in these days of war, is this volume, not on "fortifications" as such, but on the old and existing forts, with their great romantic and historic interest.

The Civilization of Babylonia and Assyria

By MORRIS JASTROW, Jr., Professor of Semitic Languages, Univ. of Penna.

164 illustrations. Handsome Library Cloth Octavo, in a box. Net, $6.00.

The only book on the subject treating of the entire civilization of these ancient nations—languages, laws, religions, customs, buildings, etc.—other books have treated only partial phases of the subject.

English Ancestral Homes of Noted Americans

By ANNE HOLLINGSWORTH WHARTON

29 illustrations. Ornamental Cloth, gilt top. Net, $2.00. Half morocco, Net, $4.50.

George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, the Pilgrim Fathers, William Penn, Virginia Cavaliers and other noted Americans are traced to their English ancestral homes, with much entertaining and interesting information gathered on the way.
